A BIG SURPRISE

Washington Had Regarded New York's Governor as Anti-Corporation.

Washington, June 12.—The effect which Governor Hughes' veto of the 2-cent fare bill will have upon his political future is regarded as problematical by politicians here. While it undoubtedly will not commend him as a presidential candidate to the general public, it will strengthen him in another direction. By his action he is expected to regain strong corporate support he lost when he put through the public utilities bill.

Governor Hughes is the first governor to turn down legislation hostile to the railroad since the administration inaugurated its railroad policy. His refusal to co-operate with the legislature of Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and other states, it is believed, may handicap him should he decide to become a presidential candidate. The governor has been regarded as a presidential possibility since he compelled the New York legislature to pass the public utilities bill. His course regarding legislation brought him forward prominently as an anti-corporation governor. In view of the record he has made as New York's executive his failure to approve the 2-cent bill comes as a surprise to politicians here.

Two Millions in Creek Suits.

Muskogee, I. T., June 12.—Sturtevant & Mott, who are conducting the suits against citizens of Indian Territory for alleged fraud in holding town lots, said today that the aggregate of their suits in towns in the Creek nation would be 2 million dollars and there are about 100 defendants named. These are not criminal prosecutions, but suits in equity. The first of these suits were filed last Saturday in Muskogee, Tulsa and Wagoner. Other suits will be filed just as fast as they can be prepared.

How Miles Tells About It.

Miles, I. T., June 12.—Since the primary election is over and ticket named, a few remarks may be in order. There are always things said and done during a general election that should not be resorted to at the primary, such as claiming that certain candidates have withdrawn from the race, or trying to damage the reputation of some candidate for the purpose of helping another—unless there is substantial proof, which is often lacking. False and slanderous talk at the primary can have but one effect, and that is to weaken the ticket at the general election.

The voting in this district was done at the home of Pete Coyne. Everything went off very satisfactorily, even the dinner that was so amply served to all by Mrs. Coyne. Supporters and non-supporters of Pete, voters and spectators, Democrats and Republicans were all welcome—in fact, Mr. Coyne said he could not afford to have any one around his place at noon go without dinner, and we hope that his larger may always be equal to his hospitality. Following is three verses of a poem which the writer committed to memory many years ago, and that has never been repeated at a more appropriate time than the present:

What constitutes a state?
Not high-raised battlements or labored mound,
Thick wall or moated gate,
Not cities proud, with spires and turrets crowned;
Not bays and broad-armed ports,
Where, laughing at the storm, rich navies ride;
Not starred and spangled courts,
Where low-browed business wags perfume to pride;
No! Men—high-minded men—
With powers as far above dumb brutes as
In forest, brake or den,
As boasts excel cold rocks and brambles rude;

Men, who their duties know,
But know their rights, and, knowing,
dare maintain;
Prevent the long-armed blow,
And crush the tyrant while they rend the chain.

These constitute a state;
And sovereign law, that states collected will,
Over thrones and globes elate
Sits empress, crowning good, representing ill.

TO SUCCEED BIXBY

J. George Wright Will Be Both Indian Inspector and Commissioner to the Five Tribes

Washington, June 11.—J. George Wright, inspector for Indian Territory, is appointed commissioner to the five civilized tribes to succeed James Bixby, whose resignation takes effect July 1. Wright has been inspector for seven years, with headquarters at Muskogee. Secretary Garfield announces the positions of commissioner and inspector will be consolidated with Wright in charge. This means a new policy for Indian Territory. While Wright will be inspector nominally the duties of that office will be transferred to Indian Agent Dana H. Keiser, and Wright will devote his time to the allotment work of the commissioner. This puts the Muskogee office under direct control of the Indian bureau.

Wright's record in Indian service covers twenty-five years. 1883, while living in Chicago, he was appointed chief clerk of the Rosebud Indian agency and served there as clerk and agent until 1896, when he was appointed inspector by President Cleveland and sent to Indian Territory. He was reappointed by President McKinley and later by President Roosevelt. Wright's salary, formerly $2,500 a year will be doubled.
